

Enforcement Policy Discussion for General Service Lamps (GSLs)

May 2022

Enforcement Policy: Background

- DOE issued two final rules relating to general service lamps:
 1. Adopting an expanded definition of General Service Lamps
 2. Implementing the Congressional Efficacy Sales Prohibition
- The GSL definitions rule goes into effect 60 days after publication in the Federal Register.
- The GSL backstop rule goes into effect 75 days after publication in the Federal Register.
- Simultaneously, DOE issued an enforcement policy to aid in the transition, which can be found here at the following website:

General Service Lamp Definition - Scope

- The GSL definitions rule defined a GSL as a lamp that has an ANSI base; is able to operate at a voltage of 12 volts or 24 volts, at or between 100 to 130 volts, at or between 220 to 240 volts, or of 277 volts for integrated lamps (as defined in this section), or is able to operate at any voltage for non-integrated lamps (as defined in this section); has an initial lumen output of greater than or equal to 310 lumens (or 232 lumens for modified spectrum general service incandescent lamps) and less than or equal to 3,300 lumens; is not a light fixture; is not an LED downlight retrofit kit; and is used in general lighting applications.
